UK GOVERNMENT IS RESPONSIBLE FOR HIGHEST DEATH TOLL IN EUROPE - WHILE NHS
STAFF ASK YOU TO #KEEPTHELOCKDOWN

STAY AT HOME

#KEEPTHELOCKDOWN

The call to 'stay home, save lives, protect the NHS' though delayed, reduced pressure on an already weakened NHS. Had the country not been forced into lockdown, the huge death toll would have been much worse. However, With deaths rising to 60,000, the Prime Minister tells us it is time to get back to work. Johnson's advice to "stay alert" is scientifically meaningless and dangerous.

Leading doctors in the British Medical Association have condemned the plan as: "too fast, too confusing, and too risky", and it is likely to usher in a second spike of the virus.

We demand these preconditions must be met before lockdown is ended:

- Appropriate PPE supplied to all public facing workers
- Freely available testing
- Rigorous contact tracing
- Widespread studies to determine the prevalence of Covid-19
- Trade union oversight of safety measures on return to any workplace

If we end lockdown now thousands more people will die

The government's rationale for this is to get the economy moving no matter the cost. Now is not the time. It's time to put people before profit.
